HORSE RACING IN OLDEN TIMES.—In connection with the great race between Longfellow and Harry Bassett it may be interesting to take a glance at olden time sports Horse racing was practiced as far back as the times of the Saxon We read that when Hugh the head of the House of the Capets (after wards king of France) solicited the hand of Edeswitha the sister of Athelstan he sent to that prince among other valuable presents several running horses with their saddles and bridles the latter embellished with bits of yellow and gold

As early as the time of Henry the II horses were exposed to sale in West Smithfield where to prove their good qualities they were matched against each other This is said to be the earliest record of horseracing in England Races were formerly called bell courses the prize being a silver bell About the close of the seventeenth century the bells were converted into cups or pieces of plate usually valued at one hundred guineas each and upon these trophies and exploits and pedigrees of the successful horses were engraved Of the noted horses of English turf Eclipse stands at the head Of his speed no correct estimates can be formed as he never met with an opponent sufficiently fleet to put it to the test He distanced all the horses with which he run Eclipse produced 334 winners and these netted their owners more than £160 000 exclusive of plates and cups

NEVADA.

Murder at Elko.

Elko August 26 —Last evening as B Moreno a saddle maker was walking along the bank of the river J C McClellan a dissipated school teacher overtook him and ordered him to halt and as Moreno turned around McClellan, who had already drawn his pistol fired the ball entering a few inches above the heart passing through the top of the left lung and coming out between the shoulder blades Moreno immediately turned on the assassin chasing him McClellan running at the top of his speed, and turning around on Moreno when he had gained ground enough to permit of it Moreno, after having chased him forty or fifty rods and being shot at four times without being hit, fell to the ground seriously if not fatally wounded McClellan having emptied his revolver was arrested and lodged in jail He is about 60 years old, and a very dissipated character Has a wife and family No cause but unfounded jealousy is given for the committal of the deed

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco

San Francisco August 26 —The Tide Land Reclamation Company have made a sale of 8 000 acres on Grand Island in Sacramento river to a Kentuckian who is acting in behalf of a company who will divide it up into farms and settle upon it A colony from that State which is already formed and ready to start here will contain about twenty families

Arrived this evening—Ship Wild Hunter Libby Malabrig sugar and scrap iron to Rogers Myers & Co

A document entitled An order to provide for granting aid to the San Francisco and Colorado River Railroad Company in the construction of a railroad was introduced in the Board of Supervisors this evening It calls for an election to decide on the proposition for the city to grant a subsidy to the amount of ten million dollars A petition for the same was presented at the same time and both referred to the City and County Attorneys A petition from the California Atlantic and Pacific Railroad for a similar subsidy of ten millions was also presented and placed on file instead of being referred The San Francisco and Colorado River Railroad proposition is for a line through the coast counties southward to and through Canada de Lasuvas and the Palm Plain to a point near the headwaters of Mojave river where it will fork one branch going down the Mojave and striking the Colorado river at the most convenient point near the thirty fifth parallel and the other through the Tejon Pass to San Bernardino thence through San Gorgonio Pass and down the Cabazon valley to the Colorado river near Fort Yuma in the vicinity of the 32d parallel The California Atlantic and Pacific Railroad project provides for a road by the 35th parallel route

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES

Stockton August 26 —J M Bassett editor in chief of the San Joaquin Republican has retired from that paper and accepted a position on the editorial staff of the San Francisco Post

Another Letter from Livingstone

Another of those remarkable letters from Dr Livingstone is published This one is addressed to his brother in Canada and runs thus

Unyanyembe Nov 1 1871 —To my dear brother I received your welcome letter in February last which the cable news made you rightly uneasy of returning This was the first intimation I had that the cable had been successfully laid in the deep Atlantic Very few letters have reached me from fears in consequence of my friends speculating where I should come out on the west coast down the Nile or elsewhere The watershed is a broad upland between 4 000 and 000 feet above the sea and some 200 miles long The springs of the Nile that rise thereon are almost innumerable It would take the best part of a man s lifetime to count them In one part 01 miles of latitude gave 32 springs from calf to waist deep or one spring for every two miles A birdseye view of them would be like the congelation of frost on window panes To ascertain that all these fountains united with the four great rivers in the upper part of the Nile valley was the work of time and much travel and many a weary foot I trod ere the light dawned on the ancient problem If I had left at the end of the two years for which my expenses were paid I could have thrown very little more light on the country than the Portuguese who in their three slavery visits to the Cazembi asked for ivory and slaves and thought of nothing else I asked about the waters questioned and cross questioned till I was really ashamed, and almost afraid of being set down as afflicted with hydrocephalus I went forward backwards and sideways feeling my way every step of the way I was generally groping in the dark for who cared where the river ran? Of these four rivers into which the springs of the Nile converge the central one is called Lualaba and is the largest It begins as the river Chambezi which flows into the great lake Bangwolo On leaving it its name is changed from Chambezi to Luapula, and that enters Lake Moero Coming out of it the name is changed to Lualaba and it flows into a third lake, Kamolondo, which receives one of the four large drains mentioned above It then flows on and makes two enormous bends to the west which made me often fear I was following the Congo instead of the Nile It is from one to three miles broad and never can be waded at any part or at any time of the year Far down the valley it receives another of the four large rivers mentioned above the Lochte or Lomame, which flows through what I have named Lake Livingstone [Lincoln] and then joins the central Lualaba We have then only two lines of drainage in the lower part of the great valley, that is Lake Tanganyika and Albert Lake which are but one lake or river or say, if you want to be pedantic a lacustrine river These two form the eastern line The Lualaba, which I call Webb s Lualaba is then the western line, nearly as depicted by Ptolemy in the second century of our era After the Lomame enters the Lualaba a fourth great lake in the central line of drainage is found But this I have not seen nor yet the link between the eastern and western main at the top Ptolemy s loop, the great central line goes down into large reedy lakes possibly those reported to Nero s the centurion—and these form the western or Petherick arm which Speke and Grant and Baker believed to be the river of Egypt Neither can be called the Nile until they unite the lakes mentioned in the central line of drainage, which are by no means small Lake Bangwolo, at the lowest estimate, is 150 miles long I tried to cross and measure its breadth exactly The first stage was to an inhabited island 24 miles, the second stage could be seen from its highest point or rather the tops of trees upon it, evidently lifted up by mirage third stage was the mainland and was said to be far beyond but the canoe men had stolen the canoe They got a hint that the real owners were in pursuit and got into a flurry to return home Oh that they would! But I had only my coverlet left to hire another craft, and being 4 000 feet above the sea it turns very cold So I gave in and went back but I believed the breadth to be between sixty and seventy miles Bangwolo Moero and Kamolondo are looked on as one great river in a lake, and this is one of Ptolemy s The other is the Tanganyika, which I found steadily flowing north This the geographers my predecessors, must have gleaned from men who visited this very region

One idle person in London published a pamphlet which with killing modesty he entitled Inner Africa Laid Open and the newspapers even the Times rails at any one who travels and dares to find a country different from that drawn in his twaddle I am a great sinner in this poor fellow s opinion and the Times published his raving even when I was most unwisely believed to be dead Nobody but Lord Brougham and I know what people will say after we are gone The work of trying to follow the central lines of drainage down has taken me away from the mails or postage

The Mayema are undoubtedly cannibals, but it was a long time before I could get conclusive evidence thereon I was sorely let and hindered by having half caste Moslem attendants—unmitigated cowards and as false as their prophet of whose religion they only imbibed fulsome pride They forced me back when I was almost within sight of the end of my exploration—a distance between four and five hundred miles under a blazing vertical sun I came here a mere ruckle of bones, terribly jaded in body and mind The head of my worthless Moslems remained here and ran riot with the goods sent me He was drunk for months at a time He then divined on the Koran found I was dead, sold all the goods that remained for slaves and ivory for himself and I arrived to find myself destitute of everything except a few goods here, and I shall have to wait now till the other goods by other men come from Zanzibar When placed in charge of my supplies of soap brandy opium and gunpowder from certain carriers and British subjects he was fourteen months returning his expenses being paid out of my stocks Three months were ample, and then he remained here and sold off all You call this smart do you? Some do if you don t I think it moral idiocy

Yours affectionately,

DAVID LIVINGSTONE

Running in Debt

Everybody knows the great pressure which has existed of late for money and which has scarcely abated at all Everybody who had long standing accounts to settle the first of the year remembers but too well the pressure at that period when bills and claims and payments of various kinds never fail to present themselves in long array—all of which have to be sent or arranged paid or put off, according to the ability or disposition of the debtor Many an aching heart at that time beats under the outward appearances of enjoyment, while the phantoms of unpaid bills loomed through all the money making and seasoned with bitterness the most delicate morsel No right minded man will remain a moment longer in debt than he has the means to pay There is nothing that makes a man if he has moral feeling more contemptible than owing money when he cannot pay it He feels that he is in a false position that instead of ranking with the respectable portion of society he ought to take his position with the meanest classes for he is walking about under false colors in other people clothes feeding surreptitiously from other people s tables living in houses lodging using furniture that does not belong to him and that if he were to act like an honest man and pay for what he has he must dress less, eat plainer food and dwell in the back streets he would then be a far more respectable man than the scamp who willfully incurs debts which at the time he knows he cannot pay Many an honest man is brought to untold embarrassments by an extravagant or thoughtless family and by the pernicious system of long credit given by retail merchants It is absurd for retailers to open accounts with customers at a longer credit than they can obtain themselves Yet this is done in this country to a frightful extent and it accounts more readily than any thing else will for the perpetual state of embarrassment in which small traders are involved They give too much and too long credit and they in many cases induce wives and daughters to run bills that would not have been thought of but for the bland tones of the merchant assuring them that "it will be all right pay at your convenience &c" We have known instances were goods have been ordered to be sent home with the bill to be paid for on their delivery at the house, innumerable instances were the goods have been left without the carrier waiting to receive the money A method used to induce the customer to open an account That many a woman has involved herself in trouble and her husband in debt, from listening to the solicitations of dealers to get whatsoever she may want and not trouble herself about settling at present is a fact and in nine cases out of ten where this class of merchants lose by the wives and daughters they are themselves to blame, having urged them on to run up bills far beyond the ability of the fathers or husbands to pay An account once opened is not likely to be soon closed, it is easy to find an immediate want for a thousand things that would not suggest themselves if the money had to be paid at the time of purchasing, and thus the account swells into a sum of a magnitude that when the bill is presented at the end of six months or a year, the family stand aghast at the enormity of the figures. Then commences the dunning the putting off, the thousand and one excuses, harsh words between husband and wife, father and daughters, and finally a lawsuit and exposure.

TUESDAY MORNING AUG ST [illegible]

Further Disclosures

Among the Confederate [illegible] published is a letter written in August 1864 by C C Clay rebel agent in Canada [illegible] Benjamin Secretary of State at Richmond. This letter gives a further history of the peace parley in Canada with Horace Greeley and corroborates other testimony that the Northern Democracy were preparing for insurrection in 1864 and that the rebel agents were in constant communication with them. In his letter Clay explains why himself and friends sought out Greeley for this negotiation. We quote

In the meantime Mr George N Sanders who had preceded us to the Falls—was addressing either directly or indirectly his ancient and intimate party friends and others in the United States supposed to be favorably inclined assuring them that a peace mutually advantageous to the North and the South might be made and inviting them to visit us that we might consider and discuss the subject. He informed us that Mr Greeley would visit us if we would be pleased to see him. Believing from his antecedents that he was a sincere friend of peace even with separation if necessary we authorized Mr Sanders to say that we would be glad to see him

Clay then proceeded [to] show that Greeley had proved more serviceable to them than they could have hoped. Let it be borne in mind that at this time Greeley was opposing Lincoln and trying to prevent his re-election.

If we can credit the assertions of Democrats uttered to us in person or through the presses of the United States, our correspondence with Mr Greeley has been promotive of our wishes. It has impressed all but fanatical Abolitionists with the opinion that there can be no peace while Mr Lincoln presides over the Government of the United States. All concede that we will not accept his terms, and scarcely any Democrat and not all the Republicans, will insist on them

In the following paragraph Clay shows what comfort he and his friends took from Greeley's hostility to Lincoln

All the Democratic presses denounce Mr Lincoln's manifesto in strong terms, and many Republican presses (and among them the New York Tribune) admit it was a blunder. Mr. Greeley has been chagrined and incensed by it, as his articles clearly show. I am told by those who profess to have heard his private expressions of opinion and feeling, that he c[illegible] all fools in high places, and regards himself deceived and maltreated by the Administration. From all that I can see or hear, I am satisfied that the correspondence has tended strongly toward consolidating the Democracy and dividing the Republicans, and encouraging the desire for peace

Thus Greeley was steadily playing into the hands of the rebels and embarrassing the Government of his country to such an extent that the rebel agents to stir up sedition in the North were perfectly delighted with him. Our judgment of his conduct may lean to the side of charity and while we may not accuse him of intending to abet the rebel cause it is at least clear from this history that his infirmity of judgment, lack of resolution liability to be imposed on and made a tool of (as he was imposed upon and made a tool of by the rebel agents) and general weakness of character all combine to render him unfit to hold the helm of the country for which he is now a candidate

We may properly add here Clay's statement of what the Democracy were doing in 1864. He said

The Democracy are beginning to lean more on the side of our people as their natural allies and as the champions of States rights and of popular liberty. Many of them would gladly lock arms with our soldiers in crushing their common enemy—the Abolitionists. Many of them would fall into our lines if our armies occupied any States north of the Ohio for a month or even a week

Clay also informed his principal that himself and associate had arranged for "the indispensable co-operation" with the Northern Democracy. Indeed the whole correspondence of the rebel agents is full of this idea. Denial by the Northern allies of the rebellion in the face of such a record, is vain. Here is a party impeached of infidelity to the country and here is the proof that convicts that party of it

A Road to Tillamook

A letter from Tillamook county gives us some information regarding great efforts that are being made to construct a practicable wagon road to connect that county with Wallamet valley. The undertaking is a large one, and is beyond the present means of the people of Tillamook. It is highly important that assistance should be rendered in some way. If the State can find any means of aiding the enterprise, such assistance would be willingly rendered. If the State can do nothing it would be desirable to obtain help of some sort from the General Government. A direct appropriation of money for such a road would be far more useful than appropriations for such chimerical projects as the improvement of the upper Umpqua river, which never can be made navigable. Tillamook county contains a very large area of the best quality of land. People who have never seen it would be surprised at the extent and fertility. There is more good land in Tillamook than in Washington county, and it is capable of supporting a much larger population. But for want of a good road it is remote and inaccessible and the population is sparse and limited. It is but sixty miles from Portland to Tillamook valley but want of a road shuts off intercourse. A road from the Wallamet valley to Tillamook would be advantageous to the people of both, and we hope that such a road will somehow be built

Our Democratic contemporaries are as much elated over the discovery that B J Pengra of Lane county supports Greeley as though they had found something. Now be it remembered that B J has been at enmity with the Republican party ever since he didn't get that famous Humboldt land grant over two years ago. B J condemns an Administration that squanders the public lands—unless on himself and friends—and goes for Greeley and reform

The Albany Democrat says "there is a general desire among the people to hear Senator Kelley speak on present issues." Now that is good. Our somnolent Senator's views on any subject are of no moment to a dozen people in the State. It is noticeable that Kelly is so utterly unknown that the Democrat don't even know how to spell his name. In that paper his name is invariably written Kelley

In the New York Herald of August 10th a map is published which illustrates the geography of the upper Nile as described in Dr Livingstone's letters. One of these letters, setting forth the lake system of the upper Nile we print herewith. Studied by the map, it is peculiarly interesting

The Herald has no special dispatches from West Virginia. Warned by experience it gave that State up in advance, and made no effort to save it by specials

What is a University

The [illegible] of Education at Washington has rendered a valuable service in presenting to the public a pamphlet answering comprehensively and distinctly the question "What is a University" From it these ideas are gathered

A vague notion [illegible] that to have a University it will be necessary to have a [illegible] institution where [illegible] shall be taught by [illegible] professor [illegible] special schools, departments of this and departments of [illegible] [illegible] roofs where in fine the outward form and semblance of the European prototypes shall be faithfully copied and it is even more than possible that a deal of valuable effort will be expended in producing cumbrous failures before that notion is thoroughly eradicated and replaced by a truer conception. The statistical information in the pamphlet therefore regarding foreign universities and even more the able address of Professor Heinrich Von Sybel which admirably and eloquently presents the ideal of which the German university is the imperfect embodiment ought to be in the hands of all our educators and before all intelligent people

It is to be understood and emphasized that German universities which even more than the English or French are the chosen models have more about them than the outward forms of which we have spoken; they are not mere conglomerations of independent academies nor does the sentimental conception that they are the foci where wisdom, knowledge and enthusiasm converge and fuse through a lens of sympathy prove adequate to the fact, although indeed it contains a measure of truth. There is a deeper unity in the system, a single purpose in the whole effort, a point towards which all the various lines tend and where they meet in culmination

The application of a far reaching method begins outside of the university in the gymnasium or preparatory school. Here the central aim is to develop capacity and strength. In the selection of studies the question is not so frequently asked of late "will they be useful in practical life?" but "will they train the mind and bring out its power?" Latin and Greek, classic antiquity, general history, the history of the Christian religion, mathematics, philology—each of these studies is peculiarly to exercise some particular faculty, and all are pursued in the gymnasium, the pupil acquiring incidentally, a wide basis of information, and being subjected directly and designedly to a thorough mental discipline. In all this, however, he is under authority, is chiefly passive, is guided along beaten tracks and carried through the mental processes of others. To become truly a master he must know how to wield and direct his mental forces for himself and how to bend them all to a single object. And here in the scheme comes the "university." Subjects are separated since it is not possible for the student to pursue more than one thorough investigation at one time; concentration is encouraged not only on one subject but on one single thing in that subject; one problem must be followed out to the very end, that point must be reached beyond which there is no guide, where the student can stand independently, knowing what he knows of himself, and can say there is nobody, in the whole world who, on that particular point, can teach him anything more. It does not matter what the subject may be; mental independence has been acquired, the bonds of tradition have been broken; the student, at least, knows what it is to know. The consciousness of strength thus imparted is a degree of emancipation. Thenceforth, whatever the man may be—liberal or conservative, orthodox or heterodox—that will he be in his own right, and not from force of habit or circumstance. Such in brief is the true university ideal

A Defalcation

It seems that J C Geer, Collector of Internal Revenue in Idaho Territory has for some time been delinquent in his accounts with Government. An agent of the Department visited his office, overhauled his books and found a considerable discrepancy. Geer claimed that he would make it all right when his accounts were fully straightened up. The Boise Statesman of the 20th says "On Saturday last we called on Mr Geer to know how his matters stood. He told us that he was behind $15 000, that Pickett had overhauled his books and this amount stood against him. He didn't know but they might find some errors that would reduce it but he was not sure they would. He claimed he did not have the money, and he was not able to pay it and that his bondsmen would have to settle it. He talked about his deputies and clerks but said he would not charge them with anything wrong because he could not tell from his books how they stood. He pleaded entire ignorance as to what had become of the money. Mr Geer was appointed in 1866. His bondsmen are perfectly good. He says his accounts were correct up to 1869. This may or may not be so. If he knew how to keep his books straight the first two or three years he ought to have continued to do so. We make no apology for Mr Geer or any other man who turns up a defaulter. He injures his friends disgraces his party and commits a crime against his Government—and cannot expect to escape punishment and obloquy. Mr Geer has no right to the office, and he should be removed at once. As the matter now stands unless the money is forthwith deposited, it is a subject for the Prosecuting Attorney of the Territory. We are sorry to learn of any cause for prosecuting an officer for embezzlement. But there is one course and that is to prosecute all such cases without fear or favor and we admonish this officer of his duty

On His Mettle

General Charles P Stone whose blunders caused the sacrifice of Senator Baker at Ball's Bluff is again becoming notorious. He is now in the military service of the Khedive of Egypt. Mr G R Wadleigh an American in that country has written him this sulphurous letter

ALEXANDRIA June 6 1872

Brigadier General Charles P Stone Chief of Staff of the Egyptian Army

SIR It having come to my knowledge that you have made remarks disparaging not only to myself which I might pass over but also disparaging to the United States, as well as to all foreigners in Egypt and saying further "that if you had your way you would hang sixteen out of the eighteen Consul Generals in Egypt," I as an American and a foreigner in Egypt hereby denounce you as a liar a coward, and a Jesuit

You claim to be a soldier but I believe you to be more willing with your pen than your sword. If you are not my address is the Hotel [d']Europe Alexandria

Shooting Affair at Dallas

A gentleman who arrived in this city on Sunday evening from Dallas, Polk county, brings intelligence of a serious shooting affray which occurred at that place on last Saturday evening between 7 and 8 o'clock. As near as we have been able to ascertain, the particulars are about as follows

Some weeks ago a Mr Whitley an old gentleman well known in Polk county went to Dallas [illegible] during the time became involved in an altercation with a saloon keeper there named Blaze which resulted in Whitley getting badly beaten. On last Saturday Whitley came into town accompanied by his son a young man. Soon after arriving at Dallas it seems that the Whitleys made threats to the effect that they intended to clean out Blaze's saloon before they left town. The saloon in question was owned by Blaze and Frank McCann the latter a dancing master well known in this city. The threats of the Whitleys coming to the ears of Blaze and McCann the two men proceeded to prepare themselves to give the belligerents a warm reception. It appears that our informant went to the saloon Saturday evening, to have a small pocket flask filled with whisky. He observed as he entered McCann and Blaze both standing behind the bar as if waiting for some one. Our informant stepped up and drawing out his flask asked to have it replenished. This request was complied with by the two men who during the time did not show their right hands but poured out the liquor and received the change with the left. The gentleman thought their actions seemed a little strange and out of the usual order, but did not ask any questions. Knowing the previous difficulty between Whitley and Blaze and being aware that the former was in town that day he naturally surmised that some serious trouble was brewing between the parties. Just as he was turning to walk away from the bar the saloon door was opened and in strode the elder Whitley. To confirm the suspicions of our informant that an affray was imminent Whitley had his right hand also thrust in his coat pocket. As soon as he was fairly inside the saloon he advanced a step or two toward the bar and spoke to both the men. Blaze considering himself addressed, passed the time of day, as did McCann when Whitley turned abruptly to him and said "Who in h—l spoke to you sir?" Blaze responded mildly, "I supposed you included me when you spoke, and so I suppose it is all right." At the invitation of McCann Whitley took a seat on the end of a beer keg. He commenced to quarrel with Blaze and made use of some strong terms. Blaze kept his temper until the old man used language too insulting to be borne, when he responded in corresponding terms. For a moment words ran high when the affair was brought to a crisis by the abrupt entrance of young Whitley and a man named Moore. Young Whitley had his right hand buried in his bosom under his vest. He had scarcely cleared the doorway when he drew out a small hatchet which he had kept concealed and threw it at Blaze who raised his left hand to ward off the blow, and received a terrible gash in his left forearm. This seemed to be the signal for a general row. McCann and Blaze commenced to discharge their revolvers. Young Whitley as soon as he had thrown the hatchet ran across the street, and procuring a double barreled shotgun, came back and discharged the contents at the two men behind the counter. Strange to tell the charge did not take effect and committed no farther damage than to shiver decanters and glasses. A shot was discharged at young Whitley by either Blaze or McCann which passed through his chest ranging from side to side. Moore, who had managed to get himself involved in some way in the difficulty, was shot and severely wounded in the left shoulder and another man whose name we did not ascertain was also shot in the left arm. Singular as it may appear, neither old man Whitley or Frank McCann were injured in any manner. When shot, young Whitley uttered a piercing shout, leaped several feet in the air and fell back. There is but little hope of his recovery. Sunday morning there was a severe internal hemorrhage of the wound and he was thought to be in a dying condition

The tragical affair threw the quiet people of Dallas into an intense state of excitement. The parties concerned in the affray are all now in the hands of the Sheriff, and the matter will soon be investigated

Since writing the above we learn that young Whitley died from the effects of his wound about noon on Sunday

John Thomas, sentenced to the Idaho penitentiary from Owyhee county for 18 months for horse stealing was pardoned by Governor Bennett on the 1st inst

A burglary was committed in a house on the east side of Lake Washington near Seattle on the 11th inst, during the absence of the occupants, and $30 in coin and some clothing stolen

A bridge 425 feet in length across Big Hole river near Deer Lodge, Montana, was recently destroyed by fire—supposed to have been caused by the carelessness of a teamster crossing it

Suspicions are afloat at Walla Walla that the estate of A Kyger, bankrupt is being embezzled by the carelessness of the assignee and to the great prejudice of the creditors of the bankrupt

Two Montanians who left Helena a few months ago in a complete state of impecuniosity and financial asphyxia, for the Utah silver mines have made $10 000 and have good prospects ahead

J Mortimer Murphy's work on the resources of Washington Territory will be issued about the 1st of September. The editor of the Olympia Tribune having seen some of the advance sheets speaks very highly of it

Keating & Blacker lately brought into Helena, M T, about $10,000 in gold dust which was cast into a brick by Prof Rumley. The Helena Herald says "Messrs K & B are turning out these little yellow boys every two weeks"

The Puget Sound Dispatch (Dem) says the Democratic Territorial Committee will not call a Convention to make a party nomination for Delegate to Congress but that Judge McFadden will run as an independent candidate

It has been decided by the Directors of the Puget Sound Telegraph Company not to span Hood's Canal with a wire being fearful that the very heavy winds which sometimes visit the locality would interfere with the suspended wire

The officers at Bozeman City lately made a raid on a band of horse thieves and brought in three dead ones and two living. Those killed were Thos Harlow, Wm Marsh and John Connor. Those captured were Gus Callahan and George Clark alias Piute Jack

The assessment of Clarke county Washington Territory shows a property valuation of $142 000 less than last year. Four other counties in the Territory are also assessed at a lower figure than in 1871. The aggregate increase in the entire Territory however, is about $1 000 000

Contracts for supplies at Vancouver Depot for the fiscal year 1872 have been returned from Division Headquarters and approved. These contracts are as follows: James Crawford for fir wood oats hay, and straw; M Wheeler for charcoal; Louis Sohns for 3,0[illegible] cords of hard wood and Josiah Lee for 130 cords of hard wood. An old man (name unknown) for cucumbers

The Flathead Indians of Montana are bitterly opposed to being removed from their present location to the new reservation in the Jocko Valley and threaten hostilities in case the removal is attempted. White settlers are alarmed at the menacing attitude which the Flatheads have assumed and call for the establishment of a military post at some point in the Missoula country

In the U S District Court at Seattle the other day Geo A Nichols Captain and Wm Hinton Second Mate, of the bark [illegible] were convicted of brutality for beating Frank Griffin a sailor and sentenced to pay a fine of $500 each or be imprisoned one year. Griffin also recovered a judgment against them in a civil suit for the same offense for $2 500. Rather a costly lesson

Congressman Slater was advertised for a Greeley speech at Baker City on Saturday last. It is well known that Mr Slater was against Greeley till very recently. Persuasion has doubtless changed him

This ship bri[ngs] [illegible] from which most of the tank is to [be con]structed. Arrived as the two last vessel[s] [illegible] their destination the material will be re[illegible] at once. For land so that there may be [illegible] lay. Altogether there is about 130 tons [illegible] way. The new tank will have a capacity [illegible] 000 cubic [illegible] The present holder has a c[apacity] of [illegible] cubic feet which added to the [illegible] will give [illegible] capacity of 160 000 cub[ic] [illegible] which will meet the gas requirements of [the city] for some years to come

M[illegible] —A valuable brown horse belon[ging to] the firm [illegible] Woodard & Co of this c[ity] missed last Thursday morning from the pa[sture in] which it had been kept for the last month [illegible] pasture [illegible] about six or seven miles south [of] the city [illegible] the animal was lost [illegible] head of horses were in the pasture, but non[e] [illegible] the animal in question. There [illegible] little doubt that the horse was stole[n] [illegible] had never manifested any disposition [illegible] breechy [illegible] been in the pasture some ti[me] apparently [illegible] much attracted to its co[mpan]ions. The firm of which it was the propert[y] [illegible] the animal at $150. Since it was mis[sed] the slightest traces have been discovered of [illegible] the thief or horse

[illegible] —We noticed yesterday [illegible] gutter on the west side of First street [be]tween Yamhill and Taylor, that the water had be[en al]lowed to stand and stagnate, and corn [husks,] watermelon rinds cabbage leaves and d[ecayed] vegetation of divers kinds, had been thro[wn or] swept into it from the numerous vegetable [stores] along there until it had actually become a [nuisance] to the nostrils of all who passed by that w[ay] [illegible] hint to be people doing business [in that] locality from the Street Commissioner [illegible] doubtless be productive of wholesome resu[lts]

SNAG P[illegible] —The Government snag [boat] constructed last year by Major Roberts, [is] engaged in clearing the Wallamet river [of ob]structions. About two weeks ago the comm[enced] operations since which time over fifty large [snags] have been pulled out, four at the head of [illegible] Slough above Salem. The snag boat is [in] active operation at the same point. As [soon as] the obstructions are removed from that pla[ce the] boat will descend the river and work a[t] various points where the channel require[s to be] cleaned of snags and obstructions

SCHOOL TEACHERS —The steamer now [on her] way here brings quite a re-inforcement of [school] teachers for the several schools establish[ed by] Bishop Morris and the clergy of the Epi[scopal] Church. Miss Yaradley comes to St [illegible] Hall, Miss Barrows to Mr Babcock's sch[ool at] Corvallis and Miss Hawes and Miss Stock[illegible] Mr We[illegible]'s school at Walla Walla. Mis[s] [illegible] for the Bishop Scott Grammar School arr[ived by] last steamer. Other teachers are on the w[ay] for Corvallis and two for Walla Walla, the [re-]inforcement numbering eight.

WOOD DESTROYED —A fierce fire was [raging] among the timber to the west of the city [yester]day. The fire must have destroyed much [illegible] as large quantities of cord wood were piled [in] immediate proximity to the [illegible] Persons continue to leave wood in localities where [illegible] posed to the fires which every year [illegible] sweep over the woods in the vicinity of th[e city]. Last summer several hundred cords were de[stroyed] near the Canyon road in the course of [illegible] minutes. It seems that the follies of past [years] are repeated

WITNESSES —A number of Indians from [the] Reservation are now in the city under the [charge] of Agent Palmer. They are witnesses in t[he cases] of U S vs John S Lee, Thomas H Boyle[illegible] Lutgens W P Butterfield and John H[illegible] charged with having sold liquor to the I[ndians] near the Reservation, and being implicated [in the] killing of an Indian Chief on Yaquina Bay [illegible] of last July. The cases will come up f[or trial] this week in the U S District Court

TIME [illegible] —According to the provisions [of a re]cent ordinance passed at the Council th[at al]lowed the Wallamet Bridge Company to [desig]nate the exact locality where the structure [is to be] built will expire to-morrow. In the select[ion of] the place where this very important improv[ement] is to be constructed, two things will determi[ne the] action of the Company—that section of t[he city] subscribing stock the most liberally, and th[e most] practicable and feasible point

BOARD OF DELEGATES —At a recent [meeting] of Columbian Engine Co No 2, Willi[am] Bruen and C S Mills were chosen as mem[bers of] the Board of Delegates of the Portland Fi[re De]partment [illegible] Oscar Kilbourne and John [illegible] resigned. We learn that Mr Bruen is a [candi]date for the office of Chief Engineer of t[he De]partment, subject to the votes of the fire[men at] the next election, to come off the first Mo[nday in] December

TO BE TRIED —The case of United St[ates vs] James [illegible] will be tried to day in the [United] States District Court. The defendant i[t will be] remembered is the same person who br[ought a] suit for damages week before last against [illegible] Goodale for false imprisonment. [illegible] charged with having introduced spirituous [liquors] in an Indian county

S[illegible] TO CLOSE —To-morrow [being] the day on which will be determined w[here the] bridge will be located, will be the last d[ay for] subscriptions to the stock will be received [illegible] who desire to secure the bridge should [bear in] mind [illegible] the most liberal subscriptions [illegible] only the [illegible] which will settle the preference [illegible] Company

[illegible] A friendly visit was paid [illegible] Portland Lodge of Good Templars [illegible] by the members of Multnomah and [illegible] Lodges [illegible] city. The objects of such [visits are] to cultivate sociability and fraternal [feeling be]tween the members of Sister Lodges. [illegible] a very [illegible] time was had

[illegible] —We learn that a petition [illegible] open [illegible] and charter will be forwarded [illegible] few [illegible] the Great Incohonee of the [illegible] State [illegible] for the [illegible] other [illegible] the Improved Order of R[ed Men] in this [illegible]

[illegible] —The case of the United [States] vs [illegible] late mate of the bark [illegible] was tried yesterday. The defendant was char[ged with] smuggling opium. After a short absence [the jury] returned a verdict of guilty as charged i[n the in]dictment

HORSE [STOL]EN —A valuable horse wa[s stolen] on Saturday night from the stable of J M[illegible] of [illegible] and. At the same time [illegible] was taken from Mr G Clark of the sam[e illegible] No clue as to the thief has been obtained

CITY.

THE GAS TANK.—Excavating of the new gas tank at the corner of Sixth and E streets is [illegible] completed. A number of masons are now engaged [illegible] work in which the tank will be placed. Everything will be in readiness to place [illegible] in a few weeks—or at least by the time the [illegible] materials, etc., are received. The necessary material is on the way here shipped on board the following vessels: about 60 tons of pipes principally on the bark [illegible], which sailed from New York, via Cape Horn, on the 22th June, bound direct for this port; about [illegible] tons of retorts, fire bricks, etc., on the ship John Bright, bound for San Francisco from New York, which sailed on the 5th of May; ten tons on board the ship Harvest Queen from the same port and bound for San Francisco, which vessel sailed on the 4th of April. This ship brings the iron from which most of the tank is to be constructed. As soon as the two last vessels reach their destination, the material will be reshipped at once for Portland, so that there may be no delay. Altogether there is about 130 tons on the way. The new tank will have a capacity of 125,000 cubic feet. The present holder has a capacity of 35 000 cubic feet, which added to the new one will give a total capacity of 160 000 cubic feet, which will meet the gas requirements of the city for some years to come.

MISSED.—A valuable brown horse, belonging to the firm of Ferry, Woodard & Co. of this city, was missed last Thursday morning from the pasture in which it had been kept for the last month. The pasture is about six or seven miles southwest of the city. At the time the animal was lost several head of horses were in the pasture but none were missed but the animal in question. There is but little doubt but what the horse was stolen as it had never manifested any disposition to be breechy, had been in the pasture some time, and apparently become much attracted to its companions. The firm of which it was the property, valued the animal at $150. Since it was missed, not the slightest traces have been discovered of either the thief or horse.

UNWHOLESOME.—We noticed yesterday in the gutter on the west side of First street between Yamhill and Taylor, that the water had been allowed to stand and stagnate, and corn husks, watermelon rinds, cabbage leaves and decayed vegetation of divers kinds, had been thrown and swept into it from the numerous vegetable stands along there until it had actually become a stench in the nostrils of all who passed by that way. A slight hint to the people doing business in that locality from the Street Commissioner would, doubtless, be productive of wholesome results.

SNAG PULLING.—The Government snag puller, constructed last year by Major Roberts, is now engaged in clearing the Wallamet river of obstructions. About two weeks ago she commenced operations, since which time over fifty large snags have been pulled out, four at the head of Eola Slough, above Salem. The snag boat is still in active operation at the same point. As soon as the obstructions are removed from that place, the boat will descend the river and work along at various points where the channel requires to be cleared of snags and obstructions.

SCHOOL TEACHERS.—The steamer now on the way here brings quite a re-inforcement of school teachers for the several schools established by Bishop Morris and the clergy of the Episcopal Church. Miss Yarndley comes to St Helen's Hall, Miss Barrows to Mr Babcock's school at Corvallis, and Miss Hawes and Miss Stockwell to Mr Wall's school at Walla Walla. Miss Buss for the Bishop Scott Grammar School, arrived on last steamer. Other teachers are on the way, one for Corvallis and two for Walla Walla, the whole re-inforcement numbering eight.

WOOD DESTROYED.—A fierce fire was blazing among the timber to the west of the city yesterday. The fire must have destroyed much wood, as large quantities of cord wood were piled up in immediate proximity to the flames. Persons still continue to leave wood in localities where it is exposed to the fires which every year invariably sweep over the woods in the vicinity of the city. Last summer several hundred cords were destroyed near the Canyon road in the course of thirty minutes. It seems that the follies of past seasons are repeated.

WITNESSES.—A number of Indians from Siletz Reservation, are now in the city under the charge of Agent Palmer. They are witnesses in the case of U. S. vs John S Lee, Thomas H Boyle, Chas Lutgens, W. P. Butterfield and John Howard, charged with having sold liquor to the Indians near the Reservation, and being implicated in the killing of an Indian Chief on Yaquina Bay on the 31st of last July. The cases will come up for trial this week in the U S District Court.

TIME SET.—According to the provisions of the recent ordinance passed at the Council the time allowed the Wallamet Bridge Company to designate the exact locality where the structure is to be built, will expire to-morrow. In the selection of the place where this very important improvement is to be constructed two things will determine the action of the Company—that section of the city subscribing stock the most liberally and the most practicable and feasible point.

BOARD OF DELEGATES.—At a recent meeting of Columbian Engine Co No 3, William O Bruen and C S Mills were chosen as members of the Board of Delegates of the Portland Fire Department vice Oscar Kilbourne and John Patton resigned. We learn that Mr Bruen is a candidate for the office of Chief Engineer of the Department, subject to the votes of the firemen at the next election, to come off the first Monday in December.

TO BE TRIED.—The case of United States vs. James Barcleay will be tried to-day in the United States District Court. The defendant, it will be remembered, is the same person who brought a suit for damages week before last against Captain Goodale, for false imprisonment. Barcleay is charged with having introduced spirituous liquors in an Indian county.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO CLOSE.—To-morrow being the day on which will be determined where the bridge will be located, will be the last day when subscriptions to the stock will be received. Those who desire to secure the bridge should bear in mind that the most liberal subscriptions are the only things which will settle the preference of the company.

VISITED.—A friendly visit was paid the East Portland Lodge of Good Templars last evening, by the members of Multnomah and Nonpareil Lodges, of this city. The objects of such visits is to cultivate sociability and fraternal relations between the members of Sister Lodges. We learn a very pleasant time was had.

I O R M.—We learn that a petition for a dispensation and charter will be forwarded in a few days to the Great Inchohonee of the United States at Columbus, O. for the institution of an other Tribe of the Improved Order of Red Men in this city.

FOUND GUILTY.—The case of the United States vs S Bean, late mate of the bark Forward, was tried yesterday. The defendant was charged with smuggling opium. After a short absence the jury returned a verdict of guilty as charged in the indictment.

HORSE STOLEN.—A valuable horse was stolen on Saturday night from the stable of J McGowan of East Portland. At the same time a saddle was stolen from Mr G Clark of the same place. No clue as to the thief has been obtained.

SPECIAL MEETING.—There will be a special meeting of the members of the Sportsmens Club this evening at the Police Court. Important business will be transacted and a full attendance is desirable.

FOR BENEFIT OF "THE HOME."—The Young Ladies' Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Sabbath School will give a Festival for the benefit of "The Home" on Wednesday September 4th.

EQUALIZATION BOARD.—The County Court sitting as a Board of Equalization, convened yesterday but transacted no business and adjourned to meet this morning at 10 o'clock.

BOILER AND STACK.—A large boiler and smoke stack were shipped down the river yesterday morning on a scow, intended for a large sawmill at Oak Point.

LICENSES.—During the past week five marriages were issued from the County Clerk's Office. This is a decided increase over the last few weeks.

NEW POSTAL LAWS.

The following extracts from the new Postal Laws and also the subjoined statement of Money Order business transacted at the Postoffice here from Jan 1st to June 30 1872, has been kindly furnished us by Postmaster L H Wakefield.

Sec 130. That mailable matter shall be divided into three classes: First, letters; second, regular printed matter; third, miscellaneous matter.

Sec 131. That mailable matter of the first class shall embrace all correspondence, wholly or partly in writing, except book manuscripts and corrected proof sheets passing between authors and publishers.

Sec 132. That mailable matter of the second class shall embrace all matter exclusively in print regularly issued at stated periods from a known office of publication, without addition by writing, mark or sign.

Sec 133. That mailable matter of the third class shall embrace all pamphlets, occasional publications, transient newspapers or magazines, hand bills, posters, unsealed circulars, prospectuses, books, book manuscripts, proof sheets, corrected proof sheets, maps, prints, engravings, blanks, flexible patterns, samples of merchandise, not exceeding twelve ounces in weight, sample cards, phonographic paper, letter envelopes, postal envelopes and wrappers, cards, plain and ornamental paper, photographic representations of different types, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions and all other matter which may be declared mailable by law, and all other articles not above the weight prescribed by law, which are not from their form or nature liable to destroy, deface, or otherwise injure the contents of the mail bag, or the person of any one engaged in the postal service.

All liquids, poisons, glass, explosive materials and obscene books, shall be excluded from the mails. All matter of the third class, excepting books and other printed matter, book manuscripts, proof sheets and corrected proof sheets, shall not exceed twelve ounces in weight, and all matter of the third class shall be subject to examination and to rates of postage as hereinafter provided. Samples of metals, ores and mineralogical specimens, shall not exceed twelve ounces in weight, and shall be subject to examination and to rates of postage as hereinafter provided.

Sec 134. That no package weighing more than four pounds shall be received for conveyance by mail, except books published or circulated by order of Congress.

Sec 163. That on mailable matter of the third class, except as herein stated, postage shall be charged at the rate of one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof; double these rates shall be charged for books, samples of metals, ores, minerals and merchandise.

Sec 165. That the rule of United States postage on mail matter sent to or received from foreign countries with which different rules have not been established by postal convention or other arrangement, when forwarded by vessels regularly employed in transporting the mail, shall be ten cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof on letters, unless reduced by order of the Postmaster General.

The countries with which different rates have not been established are as follows:

PERSONAL.

T B Odeneal, Superintendent of Indian Affairs, is now in the city.

W. H Harris, the present County Clerk, is now rusticating at the seashore, where he will probably remain for some days.

From a copy of the Hawaiian Gazette of July 31st, we learn that Yankee Plummer was in Honolulu astonishing the natives and amusing the "citizens of Boston descent."

Messrs Nesfield and Vivian and Mlle Gaugain will arrive to-day from the Sound, we learn, and will give one of their performances shortly, which have proven successful affairs with the Sound people.

Mr C P Ferry, of the firm of Ferry, Woodward & Co, will start this morning for Victoria and the Sound country on a pleasure and business tour. Among numerous other things Mr Ferry proposes to determine beyond all doubt, just where the terminus is to be located. He intends to return within three weeks, but if he finds the exact spot where the terminus is to be he will probably remain a few days longer than that.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Messrs Williams & Myers offer for sale an engine and boiler of ten horse power in good order. For particulars call at their store No 5 Central block, Front street.

BURDETT ORGAN.—Read the notice of Hon W C Johnson elsewhere, in testimony of the many excellences possessed by this organ. G L DePrans offers this splendid organ for sale at his music store as cheap as they can be purchased north of San Francisco.

The advertisement of L Samuel, publisher and compiler of the Travelers Guide, will be found in another column. As a medium for advertisers the Guide presents superior advantages, being circulated extensively over Oregon and Washington Territory. See card.

WOOLEN MILLS.—Under "New To Day" in our columns, will be found the advertisement of the Mission and Pacific Woolen Mills, Nos 517 and 519 Market street, San Francisco. The manufacturers have on hand a large and well assorted stock of woolen goods, made at their celebrated mills, consisting of blankets, cloths, tweeds, cassimeres, shawls, flannels etc.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Night cool and delightful.

Examination of the assessment roll to-day.

Canyon Garden has two bears on exhibition.

The steamer [illegible] is due this afternoon.

No arrests by the police force up to midnight.

Thermometer [illegible] yesterday among the [illegible]ties.

The Salem Turn Verein went home yesterday morning.

Steamer [illegible] will be due in a few days from Sitka.

The steamer [illegible] is being refitted and repaired throughout.

Game of base ball yesterday—between the Crescent and Athletic Clubs.

Freight trains leave the east side depot only on Monday, Wednesday and Friday for the south.

Read elsewhere a very important item relative to postoffice affairs. Cut them out and preserve them.

A crowd of boys were rendering night hideous last evening, all because a policeman had wedded.

John Carroll, who lost a valuable gold watch in the river on last Friday, recovered his property the following day.

A number of our prominent citizens were recipients of a musical call last Saturday evening from the East Portland band.

Mr M Lebrande, editor of the Zeitung, delivered the oration to the Turn Verein Society at Canyon Gardens on Sunday last.

The M E Conference will commence at Salem day after to-morrow. A number of ministers are now in the city en route to that place.

One would naturally be led to conclude from reports that this city is now infested with horse thieves, house burglars and incendiaries.

These nights the stars are brightly gleaming and so are the seven pointed silver stars now worn by the police force. They look imposing under gas light.

CANNOT BE EXCELLED.—There has been a decided change in personnel of the photographic establishment of Joseph Buchtel, by the presence of Mr L H Stolte as a partner with Mr Buchtel. Mr Carl Bree, the famous artist, continues to transfer physiognomies to plate in a manner that meets with general approval. Messrs Buchtel & Stolte have on exhibition daily at the entrance to the Gallery, Corbett's Building, First street between Washington and Alder, the finest display of work in their particular line ever produced in the State and in the East it would be difficult to find anything to excel it. The firm and those connected with it need no words of praise. The work they produce is the best endorsement any gallery could have.

Want of Vitality
If a deficiency of vital energy is not a disease in itself it is a condition which lays the system open to the attacks of all conceivable maladies. Night and day we are surrounded more or less by deleterious influences. No atmosphere is entirely pure, no water is utterly free from injurious particles, while in many localities both are positively unwholesome. What defence has the weak languid system in which the vital principle is deficient or dormant against any of the morbid influences which produce epidemic and other diseases? None whatever. There is no safety save in artificial reinforcement. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have beyond all question a vitalizing effect. If the nervous forces of the body have been recklessly expended in exhausting physical or mental labor or dissipated in the indulgences of a fast life this powerful vegetable tonic and corrective will restore them. If the defective vitality is a constitutional evil it can be remedied to a great extent by this wonderful invigorant. At a season of the year when the air is more or less impregnated with the seeds of periodic fevers it is especially desirable that the digestion should be perfect, the habit of body regular, the liver active, the blood pure and the nerves firm. These conditions are the best protection against all such diseases and they are only attainable by the use of a tonic, and there is no medicinal agent [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

PLANTATION BITTERS!
S. T.--1860--X.
This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

The Stellar Universe.

GREAT NEWS FROM THE STARS—THE NEW WONDERS REVEALED BY THE SPECTROSCOPE—MEASURING THE VELOCITY OF THE STARS—DRIFTING THROUGH SPACE SEVENTY MILES A SECOND.

At the last meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society, Dr. Huggins, the eminent spectroscopist, made an extraordinary statement respecting the motions taking place among the stars. The results he announces are so wonderful that it will be well briefly to explain how they have been obtained, as well as their relation to what had formerly been known upon the subject. Our readers are doubtless aware that the stars are not fixed, but are known to be traveling quickly through space. To ordinary observation the stars seem unmoving; nor indeed can the astronomers recognize any signs of motion save by prolonged observation. But if the exact place of a star be carefully determined at any time, and again many years later, a measurable displacement can be recognized, year after year, century after century, the motion thus determined proceeds, until at length the star may be removed by a considerable arc (or what is so regarded by astronometers accustomed to deal with the minutest displacements) from the position it had formerly occupied. But, in general, these movements afford no means of estimating the real

RATE AT WHICH THE STARS ARE TRAVELING

through space. In the first place, a star might be moving with enormous rapidity toward or from the earth, and yet seem to be quite fixed on the star-vault—just as the light of a rapidly approaching or receding train seems to occupy an unchanging position if the train's course is at the moment in the direction of the line in sight. It is only what may be called thwart motion of the stars that the astronomer can recognize by noting stellar displacements. But even this motion he cannot estimate—in miles per second, say—unless he knows how far off the sun is; and astronomers know in truth very little about stellar distances. Now it seems at first sight altogether hopeless to measure the rate at which a star is approaching or receding. No change of brightness could be looked for, nor, indeed, could any observed change be trusted as an evidence of changed distance, since stars are liable to real changes of brilliancy, much as our sun is liable to be more or less spot-marked. But,

THE DISTANCES TO THE STARS

are so enormous that no conceivable rate of approach or recession could effect their brilliancy discernably. Only the most rapid thwart-motions yet recognized would carry a star over a space equal to the moon's seeming diameter in 500 years, so that a corresponding motion of recess or approach would only change a star's distance to about the same relative extent, and it is obvious that such a change could not make a star, even in that long period, change appreciably in brightness. It will seem, then, utterly incredible that astronomers have learned not merely whether certain stars are receded or approaching, but have actually been enabled to determine respecting this kind of motion what they can not determine respecting the more obvious thwart-motion, viz.: the rate at which the motion takes place. This is rendered possible by what is known of the nature of light. Light, travels through space in waves, not as a direct emanation. Now, let us compare a star's action in emitting such waves with some known kind of wave action, and we shall at once recognize the

EFFECTS OF VERY RAPID MOTION ON THE STAR'S PART.

Conceive a fixed paddle wheel turning at a uniform rate in water, and that every blade as it reaches the water raises one wave, that wave being transmitted in a given direction. Then there would be a succession of waves separated from each other by a constant distance. But suppose the paddle wheel itself to be carried in the given direction. It is clear that after one blade has raised its wave, the next blade, descending in the same time as before, will reach the water closer to the preceding wave than if the paddle wheel had been at rest; for the moving wheel will have carried the blade closer, so that now a succession of waves will result as before, but they will have their crests closer together. And obviously, if the wheel were carried in the contrary direction, the wave crests would be further apart than if the wheel had been at rest. This reverting to the stars, we infer that if a star is approaching, the light which comes to us from it will have

than if the star were at rest, and vice versa. Now the distance between the wave crests of light signifies a difference of color, the longer waves producing red and orange light; waves of medium length yellow and green lights, and the shorter waves producing blue, indigo, and violet light. So that if a star were shining with pure red light, it might by approaching very rapidly be caused to appear yellow or even blue or indigo, according to the rate of approach; while if a star were shining with pure indigo light, it might by receding very rapidly be caused to appear green or yellow, or even orange or red. But stars do not shine with pure colored light, but with a mixture of all the colors of the rainbow: so that the attempt to estimate a star's rate of approach or recession by its color would fail; even though we knew the star's real color, and even though stars moved fast enough to produce color changes. The spectroscopist has, however, a much more delicate means of dealing with the mater. The rainbow tinted streak forming a star's spectrum is crossed by known dark lines; and these serve as

VERITABLE MILE-MARKS FOR THE SPECTROSCOPIST.

If one of these lines in the spectrum of any star is seen to be shifted toward the red end, the observer knows that the star is receding, and that swiftly; if the shift is toward the violet end, he knows that the star is swiftly approaching. Now, Dr. Huggins has been able, nearly four years ago, to apply this method to the case of the bright star Sirius, though his instrumental means were not then sufficient to render him quite certain as to the result. Still he was able to announce with some degree of confidence that Sirius is receding at a rate exceeding twenty miles per second. In order that he might extend the method to other stars, the Royal Society placed at his disposal a fine telescope, fifteen inches in aperture, and specially adapted to gather as much light as possible with that aperture. Suitable spectroscopic appliances were also provided for the delicate work Dr. Huggins was to undertake. It was but last winter that the instrument was ready for work; but already Dr. Huggins has obtained the

with its aid. He finds that many of the stars are traveling far more swiftly than had been supposed. Arcturus, for example, is traveling towards us at the rate of some fifty miles per second, and as this thwart-motion is fully as great (for this star's distance has been estimated,) the actual velocity with which he is speeding through space can not be less than seventy miles per second. Other stars are moving with corresponding velocities. But amid the motions thus detected Dr. Huggins has traced the signs of law. First he can trace a tendency among the stars in one part of the heavens to approach the earth, while the stars in the opposite side of the heavens are receding from us; and the stars which are approaching lie on that side, of the heavens toward which Herschel long since taught us that the sun is traveling. But there are stars not obeying this simple law; and among these Dr. Huggins recognizes instances of that community of motion to which a modern student of the stars has given the name of

STAR DRIFT.

It happens, indeed, that one of the most remarkable of these instances relates to five well known stars, which had been particularly pointed to as forming a drifting set. It had been asserted more than two years ago that certain five stars of the Plough, or Charles' Wain—the stars known to astronomers as Beta, Gamma, Delta, Epsilon and Zeta: of the Great Bear—are drifting bodily through space. The announcement seemed to many very daring, yet its authors (trusting in the mathematical analysis of the evidence) expressed unquestioning confidence. He asserted, moreover, that whenever Dr. Huggins applied the new method of research he would find that these five stars are either all approaching or all receding, and at the same rate from the earth. The result has justified his confidence as well in his theory as in Dr. Higgins' mastery of the new method. Those five stars are found to be all receding from the earth at the same rate of about thirty miles per second. This result at once illustrates the interesting nature of Dr. Higgins' discoveries, and affords even more interesting. The theories hitherto accepted respecting the constitution of the stellar universe has been tried among the views recently pronounced, with a result decidedly in favor of the latter. We may feel assured that the matter will not rest here. A simple and a decisive piece of evidence, such as that we have described, will invite many to examine afresh the theories respecting the stellar heavens which have so long been received unquestioned. The theory of star drift is associated with others equally novel, and which admits equally well of being put to the test. We venture to predict that before many years have passed, there will be recognized in the star depths a variety of constitution and complexity of arrangements startlingly contrasted with the general uniformity of structure recognized in the teachings at present accepted.

In March, 1869, our National Debt was $2,700,000, and the annual taxes were $355,050,160. Up to the 1st of July, 1872, there was paid of principal of the debt $353,976,916, making an average reduction of $8,349,422 per month. A steady reduction in taxation has accompanied the reduction of the debt. The debt of Great Britain is now £795,000,000, and during the past fifty-six years it has diminished only £70,000,000, and there has been no diminution of taxation. In three years we have accomplished nearly as much as Great Britain has in fifty-six years.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 26.—Flour—No sales to report. Quotable at $5@5 55 for extra.

Wheat—A cargo of 1,100 tons sold last Friday at a price equal to $1 82½; shippers are not buying here and name $1 60 as the top price, while millers are securing small lots at $1 50a1 55.

Barley—From $1 10 to $1 15; 1,000 sks Chevalier reported at $1 50.

Oats—$1 60@1 85.

Hay—Quotable at $9@16.

Potatoes—Quiet at $1 40@1 60.

Hops—Growers appear to be anxious to hurry the crop to market, and some lots are rather green. No prices have yet been fixed and nothing will be gained by sending imperfect lots through haste. It is now expected the price will not open above 60c. The European accounts of the crops are of a favorable nature. The yield in the Atlantic States will not show much increase over last year, but the proportion of merchantable will be much larger and the price at New York will be governed by the cost of laying down foreign descriptions.

Wool—The fall clip is arriving sparing with moderate inquiry at $15@20c.

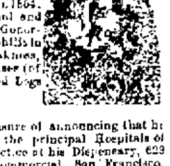
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing, and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy too work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

L. P. FISHER,

ADVERTISING AGENT,

Rooms 20 & 21 Merchants' Exchange, California st., San Francisco,

SOLICITS ADVERTISEMENTS AND SUBSCRIPTIONS for the DAILY AND WEEKLY OREGONIAN and all papers published in California, Oregon and Nevada, Washington, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Colorado, Arizona and adjacent Territories; Sandwich Islands, the British Possessions, Mexican Ports, Nicaragua, Panama, Valparaiso, Japan and China; New Zealand and the Australian Colonies, the Atlantic States and Europe.

ADVERTISING

Has created many a new business;
Has enlarged many an old business;
Has revived many a dull business;
Has rescued many a lost business;
Has saved many a failing business;
Has preserved many a large business;
And insures success in any business.

GIRARD'S SECRET.—Stephen Girard used to say in his old age: "I have always considered advertising liberally and long to be the great medium of success in business, and the prelude to wealth. And I have made it an invariable rule to advertise in dull times as well as the busiest, long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, as by continually keeping my business before the public it has secured many sales I otherwise would have lost."

ADVERTISE YOUR BUSINESS.

KEEP YOUR NAME BEFORE THE PUBLIC.

JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING INSURES A FORTUNE.

IF BUSINESS IS DULL, ADVERTISE.

IF BUSINESS IS BRISK, ADVERTISE.

☞ The man who didn't believe in advertising has gone into partnership with the sheriff, and that officer does the advertising.
